French and Spanish Clubs . . .

Again this year, as always, the French Club was one of the more popular activities at LHS. Under the direction of Mr. Jenanyan, le Circle Francais held many events including a Foreign Fling and of course the infamous French Club Dinner. Once a year, the members of the French Club prepare and serve a meal complete with traditional food, entertainment, and dancing. Although it was postponed a few times, it is still known as one of the best attended events of the year. Also under the supervision of Mr. Jenanyan is the Spanish Club. By having numerous fund raisers throughout the year, the Spanish Club is able to participate in an exchange with students from Spain.

... Foreign Cultures

Looking for a place to visit? Take your pick. This year L.H.S. students were able to travel to such places as Italy, England, and Russia as well as France and Spain. Not only did everyone have a sensational time, but much was learned about what it would be like to live in another culture.

Starting its second year, the Chinese Club is ever increasing in popularity. Throughout the year, programs are held to develop cultural awareness.

This year the American Field Service (A.F.S.) has been very active. Each year A.F.S. is responsible for hosting students visiting from different regions of the world. These students live and study in Lexington for a year, receiving first hand experience every day living in our culture. This organization also sponsors numerous social events, including a Halloween party and an end-of-the-year bash.

The Chinese Club enjoys a trip to China Town.

Meeting of the Minds

Debate and Musket

"Debate is not just a club, it's a way of life," one debate team member commented. Led by the nationally recognized Les Phillips, this year's team is as good as ever. LHS debaters travel to such places as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and even the West Coast in order to compete in the different tournaments.

From the firing of LHS Principal Michael G. Waring to the hiring of a new Superintendent, from the teachers' strike in December to the Names and Places '88 in June, the Lexington High School Musket keeps students informed of "what's news" at LHS.

This "fiesty" (according to Town & Country), award-winning newspaper deeply probes the issues surrounding current news and sports stories, investigates school matters, profiles students in features articles, and presents editors' views and concerns in the editorial pages.

Under the advisorship of Mr. Samuel Kafrissen, the Musket is a primary source of LHS news and is almost completely student-run. Research, writing, editing, advertising, subscriptions, and layout are handled fully by Musket reporters and editors.

This year, with the aid of MacIntosh program Quark Express®, Musket began experimenting with computer layout via desk-top publishing. The program cuts layout time and costs and has the potential of increasing the number of issues per year.

Recruiting for reporters begins in early September at an announced Musket meeting, at the annual fall Student Activities Fair, and from the journalism class taught by Mr. Kafrissen. Any student may join throughout the year, too, and no prior journalism experience is required.

Fit to be Print

People partial to long hours, late nights, and stressful deadlines are attracted to yearbook production. Why, you may ask? Is it the camaraderie, the chance to be published, or simply the fact that the challenge is there?

The task of the yearbook is to document with pictures and copy how this year is different from any other. The LHS students, teachers, and staff involved in special events and everyday interaction are what make the 1987-88 academic year unique.

Yearbook planning begins a year before the book is printed. By the time school ends in June the staff knows what will go on almost every page of the following year's book. Staff members spend time at yearbook conferences over the summer and in the fall. New staff members are recruited in the fall and learn on the job; by the third week of school one of six deadlines has already been met.

The yearbook is a self-supporting venture, receiving no subsidies from the school. Yearbooks may be ordered in November and February or bought (if any are left) at the end of the school year. Advertising is sold to the business community and is available to students at a "student" price.

For the 1987-88 yearbook, Dan Goldberg was the editor-in-chief, supported by twelve editors and about sixty staff. Leah Zalinsky and Jen Chyet, photography editors, were key in this year's heavily photographic production. Revati Rangabhasam presided over the student life section expanded to thirty-two color pages. Margot Barnert was the activities editor and most affected by the strike. Dan Conti and Julie Pawlak were sports editors. Kirsten Fantasia cut up and labeled about 1,200 underclass pictures as the underclass editor. Susan Ortolano's senior section is a return to a design not used for many years. Jen Leader's academics section achieved vibrancy this year with teacher quotes as well as candid. Laurie Budding communicated meeting and yearbook announcements. Peter Manickas kept the yearbook financially solvent. Tay Liang designed the superb yearbook cover, end sheets, and divider pages. Finally, Mr. John Carrier printed, Mr. Roswell Farnham photographed, and Mrs. Karen Mechem advised.

Something Orchestral

LHS' Bands and Orchestras

The 1987-88 Bands, directed by Mr. Jeff Leonard

This has been a year of change for the LHS music department; new people and new teachers have come together to provide one of the strongest music programs in the state. From the football field, to the French Club Dinner, to the LHS auditorium the efforts of the staff are seen in the performances of their students. From rock to classical, from Sousa to Sibelius, you can hear it here at LHS.

The Bands

For the second year in a row the concert and marching bands, directed by Mr. Jeff Leonard, have been separate groups. The all volunteer Marching Band had an excellent season of entertaining the football crowds and cheering the team on to victory. Aside from the games, the Marching Band performs in four parades during the year. To reward the dedicated marchers, at the end of the year, an overnight trip is arranged to Cape Cod, to show appreciation for the work done throughout the year. The Concert Band is the band you see in suits and ties on stage. You will see familiar faces that you have seen in marching uniforms at the beginning of the year, and many new ones as well. The band will play five different concerts this year, including two nights of the ever popular "Pops" concert. The better players in the concert band are involved in the LHS Wind Ensemble, and Jazz Ensemble. Both appear during concerts, and compete against other towns during the year. The Jazz Ensemble also performs in two "Jazz Nite" performances, featuring only the Jazz groups at LHS.

The LHS Orchestra, conducted by Janet Haas, plays selections ranging from Elgar and Bach, to Copland and Leroy Anderson. The orchestra has in the past accompanied dance groups and our own Chorus in assorted concerts year round. Truly this is an outstanding group of musicians.

If you are involved in the music program at LHS you get to know that you don't just learn the music, you live it. The band room and M1 are sites of books and jackets of those who participate in the music program. Whenever there is not a class you will easily find two or three people hanging out in the music wing, either studying, or avoiding studying.

Something Musical

LHS' Choral Groups

A new face appears this year as an interim Choral Director. Formerly a teacher at Berklee School of Music, Mr. Brian O'Connell has taken over the responsibility of the choral groups. For singing groups this year there are four school groups: Mixed Chorus, Concert Choir, Madrigals, and Girls' Ensemble. On top of that, we also have a student run group called the "Bobby Sox". These girls take time and their own initiative to put together and perform fifties style music at concerts and public gatherings.

REACHING OUT . . .

Across the Generations

SPANS is about bringing people together in Lexington. A major event is the Senior Citizens Dinner. Lexington High School students and teachers prepare and serve the meal. Senior citizens contribute their community spirit and a willingness to communicate and share experiences with the LHS academic community. SPANS activities throughout the year open windows for members of all generations.

Dinner à la Francais

The annual "Diner Francais" dinner-dance sponsored by the LHS French Club took place February 5, at 6:30 pm in the J cafeteria. Because of the teachers' work action, which prevented any organizational meetings, the dinner had been postponed from its original date of December 11, 1987. Food preparations for the dinner began the week before the actual event, when members of the French Club prepared several pounds of chicken, rice and salad which was to be served to the French Dinner patrons. The Diner Francais, which about 200 people attended this year, created the atmosphere and setting of a French Café. Various LHS performing groups, including the Advanced Jazz Combo, Madrigals and the Bobby Sox, provided musical entertainment. After the dinner, the tables were pushed aside to make room for a dance floor. The Sticky Hippopotamus Club Band and D.J. Adam Lewis, an LHS alumnus, furnished more popular music for everyone's enjoyment. Proceeds from the dinner go into the LHS French Club fund, which helps to finance other French Club activities, such as the Foreign Exchange and the French Café at the annual Foreign Fling. Rafe Jenanyan, French Club faculty advisor and principal organizer of the dinner, promised that this would be "the best dinner yet," and according to the guests who attended, Rafe kept his word.

A Call To Order

In order to achieve a more perfect democratic society at Lexington High School the Senate was created.

Under the guidance of parliamentary extraordinaire Mr. George Southwick, the Senate convened for the first time during the spring of 1987. During the 1987-88 academic year the Senate has emerged as a vital organization charged with dealing with some of the most volatile campus issues. Unique to this body of faculty and students is the fact that it is a policy-making body. Thirty-six students and nineteen faculty members convene each Wednesday during X block to deliberate bills.

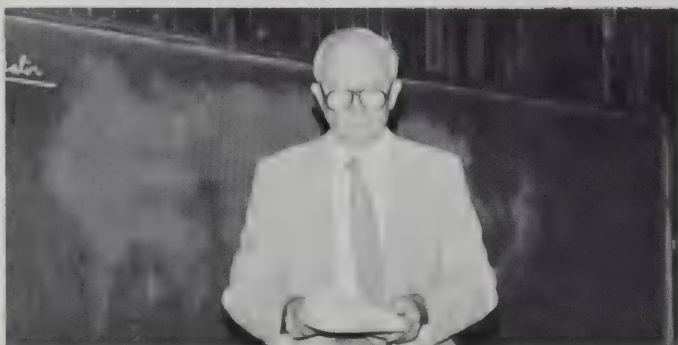

Alissa Stayn is the moderator, assisted by Mr. George Mechem, with Clare O'Leary the secretary.

For some, X Block just means yet another Senate meeting. For others it means school's out an hour early. Some students trudge up to the center in groups; some hang around socializing or in detention, and others realize this is a great time to catch up on work.

On Wednesday it's a relief to know school's out early even if it is only an hour. "It makes the day easier in my mind," says a sophomore boy. "It's like everyone has a free block at the same time. It's great," states another.

For most, X Block represents a little less work and a little more freedom.

Austria

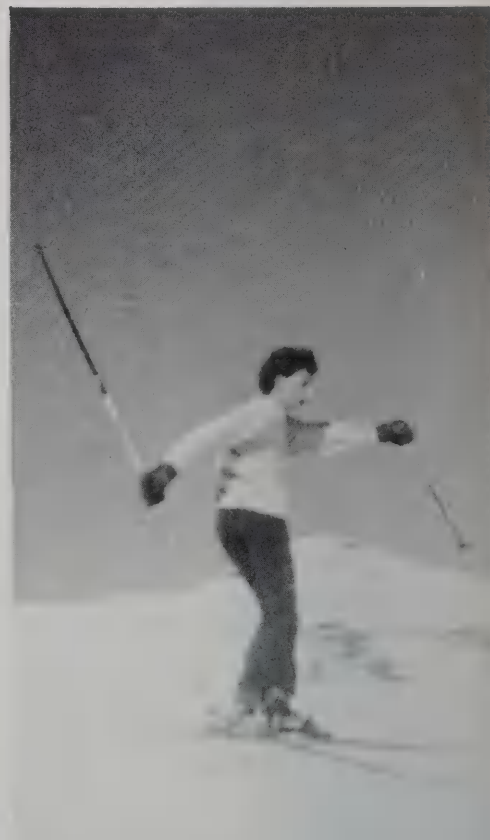

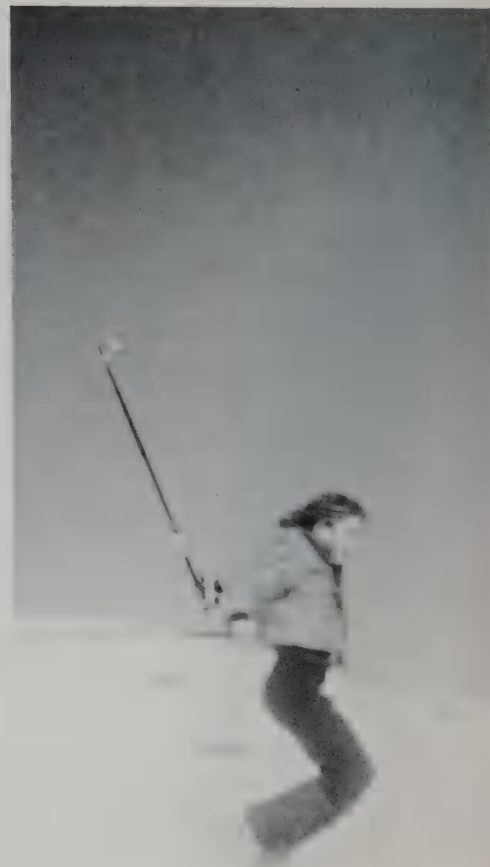

This year, the Lexington High School Ski Club had the opportunity to travel to Innsbruck, Austria. Under the guidance of Mr. Benjamin Levy, the eleven skiers included: Kevin Burnes, Mark Dickison, Dan Goldberg, Melissa Green, Jeff Greenberg, Jason Hartz, Ajeya Joshi, Diana Manxant, Todd Ossman, Brian Sites, and Paul Sundue.

Off to a snowy start on February 12, 1988, during a mid-winter New England storm, the skiers arrived in Innsbruck on Saturday evening. Unfortunately, their luggage made a short stop in London before coming to Innsbruck on Sunday evening. Yet, in leaving the states we left our spirits with channels 4, 5, and 7 as well as the Boston Globe.

No time was wasted in becoming truly accustomed to doing it the "Austrian way." Each morning began with a tasteful breakfast of "solid" rolls and hot chocolate, followed by a quick dash to the tour bus, and off to our favorite mountain: Axamer Lizum. Many skiers took full advantage of the tours offered to them. Wednesday was spent in the old city of Venice, Italy, while Thursday was spent skiing on the Swiss Alps of Ischgal, Switzerland. Friday the skiers spent the day touring Bavaria, Germany, and the great castle Neuschwanstein of King Ludwig the II.

The final day and night of our trip was spent in Munich, Germany, in the luxurious Munich Penta Hotel. Sadly enough, the trip had come to an end Sunday, February 21, 1988.

Like our beginning, the end of our voyage was spent travelling from airport to terminal, terminal to airport. The many new friendships and lasting memories that were made in Innsbruck, Austria, 1988 will remain a strong part of our educational experience.

Censorship Legalized

By Shana N. Alexander

"It really is a major change in the interpretation, I feel, of what the fine line between censorship and freedom of expression used to be," was Acting Principal David Wilson's reaction to the January 13 Supreme Court 5-3 ruling which gives public school officials the right to censor school newspapers, dramatic productions, and other "school-sponsored activities."

The ruling was the outcome of a lawsuit filed by three students from Hazelwood East High School, Missouri in 1983. When two pages of Spectrum, the school newspaper, were deleted by the principal, the student editors sued the school district, the principal, and various school officials. The two pages contained a story dealing with students' attitudes concerning their parents' divorces and an article on teenage pregnancy in which the girls' names in the interviews had been changed.

Justice Byron White, writing for the majority, noted that "school-sponsored publications, theatrical productions, and other expressive activities" are often perceived by "students, parents, and members of the public . . . to bear the imprimatur of the school."

To avoid erroneous attribution to the school, "a school may in its capacity as publisher of a school newspaper or producer of a school play 'disassociate itself' not only from speech that would

Madrigal Choir Honors Memory of Mr. D.

By Caitlin Smith

"A wonderful thing about Mr. D. was the way that he could inspire pride about music in his students. He made music something special to so many kids." Former LHS Madrigal Choir member Kamala Soparkar's fond memories of Joseph DiDomenico, the late director of Madrigals and head of the Lexington Music Department, were one of many shared by the seventy-plus former LHS Madrigal Singers from groups spanning fifteen years who reunited January 30 in a concert tribute to their late director. DiDomenico passed away last July after a two-year struggle with cancer.

Soparkar produced the student-run concert and former Madrigal member Eugene Lee directed the Singers in the thirty songs. In between the Madrigal pieces were performances by barbershop quartet, the 1987-99 Madrigal Choir, and original piece written by former Madrigal member and 1987 LHS graduate Andrew Berger, and "To a Friend," written by Sandi Peaslee and sung by mezzo-soprano Diana Cole.

Over 130 chorus members joined the Madrigal Singers on stage to sing the "Festival Pice on St. Anne," directed by

LHS Spirit Given a Boost

By Annika Hipple

The second week of March, an LHSer could buy anything from pins and boxer shorts to banners and yearbooks. From March 7-11, LHS students and faculty rallied together for Pride Week, during which many special events and fundraisers had been planned.

The proceeds from the dance will be deposited in the Michael Waring Legal Expense Fund at the Lexington Savings Bank. The money is intended to assist former Lexington High School Principal Waring with his legal expenses during his lawsuit against the Lexington School Committee.

Approximately 150 teachers and their spouses attended the dance.

Hoopsters Rank #1 in State

Eric Crichlow: One of a Kind

By Jason Kissell

I can remember precisely the first time I ever saw him run. I was at basketball practice, and he was running around the indoor track. His long, beautiful strides were such that I was compelled to ask, "Who is this person?"

"Oh, that's Eric Crichlow. He won the Bay State games and everything else last year," replied Tony Castleman.

At every basketball practice thereafter, I would watch Crichlow run. Sitting on the bench as often as I did, this was an easy task. It was the first time I was ever amazed watching anyone run. Crichlow had a certain grace to his stride that I had never seen before. He looked awesome. He looked fast. He looked unbeatable. I knew then he was someone special, maybe Olympic material.

Musket Wins Suffolk University Honors

By Todd Sinai

The Lexington High School Musket won several awards in the Eighteenth Annual Greater Boston High School Newspaper Competition Awards Program on March 10, 1988. Over sixty high school newspapers from around Massachusetts entered the Suffolk University-sponsored contest.

The Musket won the "Excellence in Typography" award and was the first runner-up in the "Excellence in News Writing" award.

The Musket was awarded a $1,000 Suffolk University scholarship with the typography award. The money will be available to an LHS student who will attend Suffolk University.

Last year, the Musket swept all four categories, winning the same awards as this year in addition to being the first runner-up in the "Excellence in Editorial Writing" category and winning the Massachusetts Press Association Award For General Excellence.

This year, Dedham High School won the General Excellence award.

Creative Expressions

The LHS Drama Club 1987-1988

"Phantom is a very concentrated play, a fast-paced thriller, with lots of back-stage pranks, flurry and murders going on," said Lexington High School drama coach Mary Elliff. The setting was the Paris Opera House, where the Phantom, played by Dan Berger, had gone to extremes in order to get his way. The cast practiced very hard and in the end it showed.

The Drama Club, led by Ms. Elliff, Kim Carnesale, and Andrew Saks, can be seen on stage many times throughout the year. Not only in the two main productions put on in the winter and the spring, but also putting on their own creations at the Springfest production.

A New Beginning

Who would have ever thought it could happen? Not the parents, not the students, and not the school committee. But, on November thirteenth, at 6 A.M., teachers voted not to go back to school until a contract had been reached. The week-long strike, which came right after the Thanksgiving break, caused a variety of opinions to be expressed. Teachers could be seen walking the picket lines every day in front of the schools and the school administration building. Students could also be seen giving their support as they marched alongside the teachers. As one high school student put it, "Something had to be done. It was just a matter of time before the teachers stood up for their rights." Some students felt penalized by a situation not of their own doing, but others felt sympathetic toward the teachers' demands. The teachers were gratified by the strong show of support they received from both parents and students.

Although students were excited at the prospect of no school, many are now wondering how that time will be made up.

A Team Effort

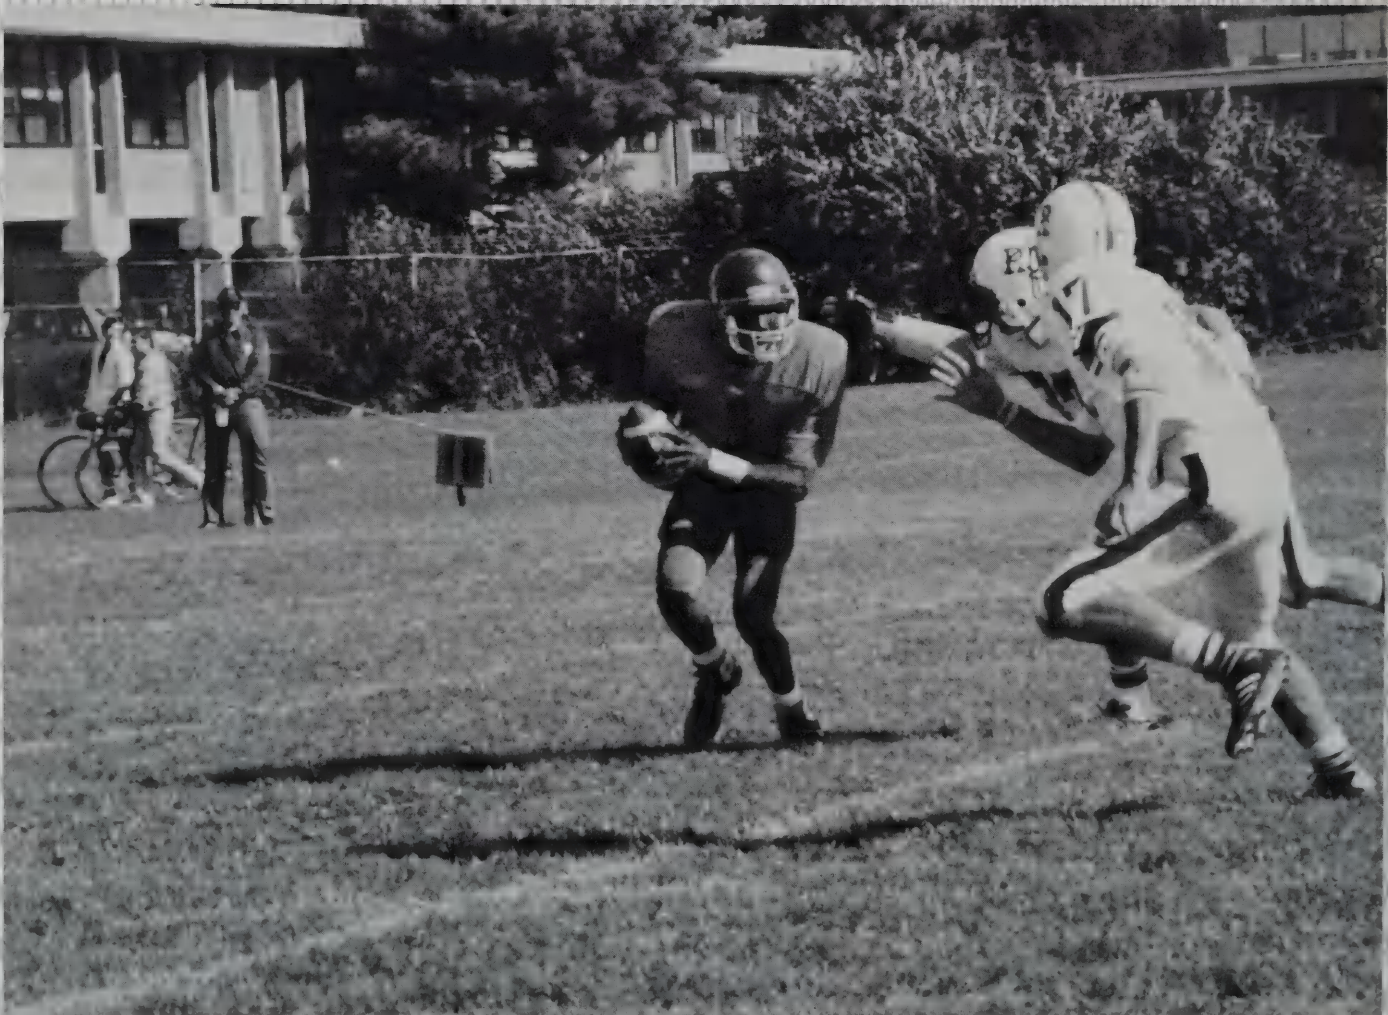

Overall it was a good year for Lexington High School football. The Minutemen finished the season with an 8-2 record. With the line-backing team of John Niland and Cliff Batite leading the defense, the Minutemen were successful in stopping many of their opponents. Offensively, the Minutemen were a powerhouse. Junior Lloyd Mumford led the team at quarterback and had the running back team of Mark Maguire and Tony Davis behind him.

In the Minutemen's eight wins, they virtually wiped their opponents out. However, when it came to the two powerhouse teams of the Middlesex League, Melrose and Woburn, they had their problems. In both of the games they fell behind and almost made incredible comebacks, especially in the Melrose game.

The depth and diversity of the 1987 Minutemen should not be overlooked. The power running display by Jeff Hagopian, catching ability of Frank Digiammarino and defensive work by Derek Thomson and Mark Murphy are some examples of the athletic talent seen on the field.

Next year's team is something to look forward to. Juniors Lloyd Mumford, Tony Davis and Jeff Wood are just a few of the names that you'll be hearing each week.

The Reading defenders attempt to catch the ever-elusive Lloyd Mumford.

Girls' Soccer

LHS Girls' Soccer, under the able leadership of first-time coach Debbi Childs and Captain Laurie Budding, had an excellent season culminating in a spot in the state tournament. Particularly noteworthy was Lexington's success against Wakefield, one of the top teams in the state. In the opener against the Wakefield Warriors, Goalie Mimi Kincaid gained her first of two shutouts of the season (1-0) with Shelli Adamian scoring the goal and senior Chris Bird leading the defense in staving off almost every threat. In the second encounter with Wakefield the Maids played with remarkable unity and intensity to tie the score at 2-2, with Captain Budding scoring on a direct hit. Lexington beat Arlington in overtime, thus securing for itself a berth in the state tournament.

In postseason play, Lexington lost to Concord-Carlisle, 1-0. Sophomore sensation Shelli Adamian led the team in scoring with 15 goals, followed by fast and furious Budding with seven goals. Jane Freeman, known for her speed, scored six times; talented sophomore Jay Hartshorn scored five times while Sharon Glick, extremely hard-working both offensively and defensively, scored three times. Elizabeth Smith, a good team player and Caryn Suffredini, the most aggressive player on the team, scored one goal apiece. Leading the defense was senior sweeper Christine Bird with one goal to her credit. Shoring up the defense were strong kickers Kristen Alves and Julie Menino, dribbler Karyn Anderson and team reporter Elise Richer. Senior Keeper Mimi Kincaid, spirited and aggressive, blocked shots right and left. The offense was bolstered by able assists from Heather Adamian, Heidi Bergmeyer, Val Funches, Jen Leader and Jerry Lindwall. The Maids were admirably coordinated by the brilliant strategy of Coach Debbi Childs which ensured the success of their season.

Boys' Soccer

LHS Boys' Soccer, coached by Robert Hartshorn, had high hopes of being in contention for the Middlesex League Title despite the loss of all 11 starters and 20 varsity players from last year's team. Lexington began the season by beating Reading 5-1 with Michael Shimansky scoring a pair of goals. They went on to beat Stoneham. Then followed a loss to Wakefield, the team which ended Lexington's changes in the Division I North finals last year. A loss to the Winchester Sachems, last year's Division II State Champions, hurt Lexington's chances for the League title, keeping Lexington scoreless for the first time. In this game sweeper Mike Burke did an excellent job of preventing the Sachems from shelling Lexington goalkeeper Tom Lacey. Goalie Lacey kept Belmont scoreless as Lexington beat the Marauders 2-0 with Jonah Schiller and Matt Packard scoring goals on corner kicks from Brian O'Connor.

Co-captain Jeff Gower provided an outstanding defense against Belmont. Lexington then beat Woburn 4-2 with Andrew Ojamma and Per Malkus scoring goals. Midfielders Seth Harris, Malkus and Co-captain Russell Davies allowed Lexington to dominate Melrose 5-1. The Lexington booters earned a spot in the EMass state tournament and advanced to the sectional quarterfinals after an opening round 2-0 victory over Lowell. Then followed a 6-2 loss to last year's postseason rival Wakefield, thus ending Lexington's chances in the tournament. Middlesex League recognition went to All Stars Tom Lacey, Mark Calabuig and Jeff Gower. Honorable Mention went to Dave Walsh, Brian O'Connor and Jonah Schiller. Despite the postseason loss to Wakefield, the young Lexington team came up with an impressive record and promises to have a powerhouse for the coming seasons.

The 1987 Cross-Country Team

Undefeated Again

For the second year in a row, the Boys' Cross Country team had an undefeated season. With a 9-0 record and a win at the league meet, they are a tribute to all Lexington Athletes. No team in the Middlesex league could match the power of this amazing group of outstanding runners.

The league all-star duo of juniors Matt Simon and Mr. Cross Country Dwight Holmes led the way each meet. Co-Captain Steve Ford, juniors Rob Ward and Austin Lin soon followed. Surprisingly, the next two were freshmen, Ed Single and Yeh-Jiun Tung. Following them two seniors, Peter Soparkar and comic Co-Captain Peter Weng. Seniors Luyi Shao, Scott Miller and Joel Pedlikin deserve praise along with all our other runners for their contributions to the spirit, depth, and unity of this championship team.

The Girls' Cross Country team had potential, but not people. With only three members, they could not be counted as an official team. However, there was no lack of spirit.

Led by Junior Kristin Lieb, winner of the prestigious Ms. Cross Country Award, they ran in practice and competition regardless of the circumstances. Often, the heroic Lieb would be the only girl running for Lexington. Sophomore Anita Parker ran well, but was hampered with injuries. Freshman Rachel Clickstein had an impressive first season that culminated with an outstanding performance at the league meet. With some more depth, the girls will be a force to be reckoned with.

Thank you to Mr. Crosby and Mr. Dulong for wisely coaching us with your many years of experience.

Girls' Swimming and Diving

The 1987 LHS Girls' Varsity Swim Team was outstanding! Led by captains Letitia Hom, Julie Pawlak and Elizabeth Welch, the team had its best record in over 5 years (6-1-1), with especially hard-fought wins against Winchester, Bishop Fenwick and Lincoln-Sudbury. Significant contributions came from the 4 x 100 yard freestyle relay team of juniors Michelle Sheehy, Laura Thompson and sophomores Kara Concannon and Becky Jeffe, which placed fifth in the State Championship Meet. Lexington Senior Valerie Coombs was also a major impetus on the team, setting an excellent example for juniors Amy Rosenbaum and Usha Tedrow. Coombs swam the backstroke leg of the 200 yard medley relay at sectionals and states. Seniors Amanda French and captain Hom chalked up many points in the 500 yard freestyle distance event while senior Rosemary Berger bolstered the butterfly event. Concannon and junior Killyan French, along with freshmen "fliers" Tami Kress and Maureen Leahy and Stacey Liederman, also represented Lexington well in the 100 yard butterfly. The "breaststroke trio" of juniors Marya Hynes and Susie Vitiello, and sophomore Maki Inada often placed first, second and third.

Lexington was extremely strong in the diving event. Captain Julie Pawlak was undefeated in the dual meet season, and captured third place at sectionals and fifth at states. Junior diver Rachel Saks took first place at the League Meet and went on to compete at the sectional and state meets. Freshmen Leslie Katz and Annika Hipple gave Lexington additional depth, with Katz qualifying for sectional competition.

The Minutemaids only loss was to Melrose in the four-lane Melrose pool which does not allow Lexington to take advantage of its depth. Lexington's tie against Belmont, breaking that team's seven year winning streak, boosted team morale to dangerous levels.

At the League meet the Maids finished second with 20 swimmers placing individually in the top 12 of their events and with the freestyle relay team breaking the 4 minute mark for the first time.

Commenting on the importance of team spirit in swimming, state swimmer Sheehy remarked, "In other sports like lacrosse and soccer you always have the option to pass the ball. In swimming you can't do that — it's you til the wall." Coach John Henriques echoed her statement, "Of all the teams that I've coached, this one is my favorite! They have the most spirit I have ever seen."

The graduating seniors leave behind a group talented in both depth and strength to "continue the tradition" in the years to come.

Field Hockey

LHS Field Hockey coached by Sandy Curt and assisted by Pauline Collins, presented an experienced lineup which earned a well-deserved spot at the State Tournament. The Minutemaids were ably captained by Goalie Jennifer Wichman, Robyn Tighe and Martha Revis, all members of the 1986 Middlesex League All-Star team. With the offense consistently bringing the ball upfield, Lexington tied Melrose, last year's number one team. The Minutemaids then beat Reading 2-1 with Cara Manfredi, one of the hardest shots in the league, and Co-Captain Revis scoring the goals. Despite an excellent defense by Wichman and Sarah Gladstone, Lexington lost to Watertown 1-0 on a field so abysmal that several Middlesex League coaches have refused to play on it. The Minutemaids went on to beat Woburn, Winchester and Reading in shutouts, losing only to Watertown and Wakefield. The team was extremely well-balanced with nine girls scoring. High-scorer Martha Revis was followed in scoring by Mills, Monaghan, Copelotti, Manfredi, Ippolito, Murphy, Boudreau and Myers. Goalie Wichman and the defense kept the opposing teams to only five goals in the first half of the season with sweepers McCarthy and Sacco keeping the pressure off Wichman. Tighe Gladstone and Landman did a superb job of turning the ball over to offense throughout the season. Excellent teamwork resulted in an outstanding record for the season.

Girls' Volleyball

The Lexington High Volleyball team worked hard to survive in the toughest league in the state. Leading the team as Co-captains were Carol Saunders and Kelly Concannon. Both have been three-year varsity players, and were keynote players for the team this year. Susan Ives, also a three year varsity player was referred to by team-mates as "the second gun" due to her strength and ability in hitting. Cindy Mayhan, along with Megan Spann, have both been two year varsity players and have repeatedly kept the team in the game with their perfect back row passes. The team could always count on Kelly Patterson and Beth Tarmy to rack up some points in serving box. Kari Grossman was at the net, ready to make a perfect set to one of the front row hitters, and Sonia Herrman could always be counted on to smash the ball down the opponent's throat. With Nicki Marquis as weakside hitter, the other team was in for a surprise or two. Leslie Singer and Deanna Brennon, both first-year varsity players encouraged and cheered the team. Janet Doherty, moved up to the varsity level halfway through the season, made a great contribution to the team's spirit and pride. A somewhat unimpressive record should not conceal the real accomplishments of the team. Memories: "if you wait you're late" ... "Be an athlete not a frog" ... penetrate ... trivial sprints ... A Season in the Sand Traps

It was a tough year for the Lexington Golf Team trying to come back after losing five starters. There were a lot of newcomers to the game of matchplay golf. Seniors Rob Cargill and Pat Marshall and junior Jason Kissel were the only returning members of last year's team. The first half of the year was tough and the Minutemen lost their first five matches, but they played some of the toughest teams in the league. The second half of the season was a little better and Lexington won three of their last four matches. Another bright point of the year was at the Middlesex League Individual Tournament held at Reading, where three Lexington players were invited. Jason Kissel, Rob Cargill, and Pat Marshall placed third, sixth and eleventh respectively. These were the best combined placements of any team in the league.

Next year's team should be strong with only Pat Marshall, Rob Cargill and Mark Coughlin graduating.

Boys' Swimming

The 1988 edition of the LHS Boys' Swim Team made up in spirit what it lacked in manpower. Decimated by the graduation of many star swimmers, the '88 Minutemen had a team of only 17 with many first-time, though promising, swimmers. Coach Henriques was pleased with the improvement of his hard-working, highly-motivated young team in the course of the season.

Despite weakness in depth, the team claimed several qualifiers for sectional and state post-season competition. Superstar senior co-captain Peter Anthes early-on qualified for States in the 200 yard freestyle, 500 yard freestyle and 100 yard backstroke. Qualifying for States in the 50 yard freestyle and 100 yard freestyle was senior co-captain Ken Kokubo who could be counted on to win these events during dual season competition. Senior Seth Harris, a mainstay of the varsity team for the past three years, easily qualified for Sectionals in the 200 yard individual medley and the 100 yard breaststroke.

One of the strengths of Lexington's team was the diving event. Coach Henriques predicted that Dan Fruciano would be among the top three in the Middlesex League with Rich Beukema in the top six and Freshman diver Jeff Zahn in the top ten.

Not being able to use its full range of swimmers in Melrose's four-lane pool, Lexington lost the season opener. However, Anthes kept the team in there with firsts in the 100 fly and 100 back, while Murman did his part with a first in the 500 free.

Despite firsts by Anthes in the 200 free and 100 back and by Kokubo in the 50 free and 100 free, Lexington lost to the much stronger Belmont team.

The tables were turned when Lexington faced Burlington with Lexington coming away with firsts and seconds in almost every event.

Firsts by Harris in the 200 free and 100 breast, by Kokubo in the 50 free and another in the 100 fly, as well as a first and second in the 200 medley relay allowed Lexington to beat Wakefield.

As is often the case with Lexington teams, imported talent in the persons of Mark Calabuig from Spain and Yura Zhovnirovsky from Israel bolstered the ranks. Freshmen Jim Leahy (fly, I.M., distance and breast), Matt Davis, and Conan Hom (breast and free) are swimmers to keep an eye on in the years to come. The Fang brothers (senior Wei-Chow and freshman Wei-Han) were also welcome new additions to this year's team as well as Jim Brady, Chris Mackie and Ben Gottlieb.

Flying to victory!

Girls' Basketball

Under the able direction of Coach Sandy Curt and co-captains and varsity veterans Tricia Chisholm and Carol Saunders, the 1988 LHS Girls' Basketball Team was a small but speedy group of players characterized by aggressive hustling and outside shooting. Saunders was noted for her outside jump shot and rebounding and Chisholm for her clutch performances in close games. The remaining three varsity veterans were Martha Revis famed for stable passing and ball control; Kristin Lieb renowned for her outside shot, fast break offense and excellent newspaper coverage of the team; and superstar Shelly Adamian, a dynamo of aggressive rebounding and steals.

Promoted JV players were Gretchen McCullough, JV high scorer; Caryn Suffredini and Megan Spann, both strong in rebounding; Nicole de Francesco, reliable for quick offense; and Miriam Freedman providing depth in the backcourt.

Lexington beat Stoneham with McCullough, Adamian and Revis providing key steals which were converted into baskets by Saunders and de Francesco. Despite a loss to Reading, the game was made memorable by Suffredini completing a 3 point play with 5 seconds to go. The second time around with Reading, the Maids won to even the score. The Minutemaids beat Melrose with McCullough garnering 13 points, Adamian 10 and Saunders sinking two baskets while under intense pressure. Lexington lost to Belmont notwithstanding an impressive 18 points by Saunders and an excellent defense by Revis. Lexington lost a hard-fought game against Watertown with McCullough leading the scoring at 9 points, followed by Suffredini, Saunders and Chisholm and a heart-breakingly close game to Winchester with Adamian leading in scoring at 12 points followed by Saunders and Kristin Lieb. With every team member scoring at least two points, Lexington easily beat Melrose. Despite 14 points each for Adamian and McCullough, Lexington was no match for undefeated Wakefield. Lexington's win over Burlington was especially rewarding after having lost to the Red Devils twice last year.

The Junior Varsity team boasted much talent which should provide the varsity with many able players in the years to come. Guards Dee Ann Spellman and Julie Menino held up the offense while Jen Haskell contributed many rebounds. Highlighting the season's games were high scorers Menino, Kara Concannon, Debbie Saunders and Mary Barry. The JV team concluded the season with an 8-4 record.

Girls' Track

In the beginning prospects had not looked good. A high turnover of members combined with missing a week's worth of practice due to the strike appeared to pose a serious problem for the girls' track team. In fact, the team lost its first meet of the season to archrival Reading — the first time Lexington had been beaten in two years. But after that, the team bounced back, winning all its other meets to end up sharing the Middlesex League title with Stoneham.

The evolution of the team came gradually. The few returning veterans made up a strong backbone, with newcomers filling in throughout the season. Sophomore Amy Marx was a standout in the hurdles, with junior Kirsten Kramer right behind to add depth. The junior trio of Leslie Singer, Michelle Sheehy, and state champ Tricia Alfred controlled the sprints. Sophomore Jay Hartshorn was in charge of middle distance, with senior Elise Richer the leader in the longest events. Junior Melanie Stephens and Val Funches returned to throw the shot, joined by senior Kelly Patterson from outdoors.

This core came to be aided by a strong group of first-time runners, including many outstanding freshmen. Sarah Hutchinson, Nicole Flynt, and Shana Yansen sprinted and dashed their ways to many victories. Twins Angela and Concetta Marino added humor and depth to the distance department while senior Laurie Budding had an excellent first season as a 600 yarder. Kristin Burge returned from outdoors to give support in the distance races. Senior Jenn Leader helped out in the sprints, as did Sarah Lipert in the longer events.

The point is that it was a total team effort throughout the season. This was proven during the tough Stoneham, Woburn, and Burlington meets, as well as at the State Relays, which Lexington won for the second straight year. This year's team was small and close-knit. Whatever the race, the Lexington runner was assured a cheering section that was, if not large, at least loud. People ran what they had to in order for the team to win, switching events, even running to the two mile (not a popular race this season). Throughout the months times were continually improved, friendships made, stories swapped, complaints registered, and jokes run into the ground. The coaches worked everyone hard and worked very hard themselves, and the end result was a season that all were proud of.

One Step Up

The Lexington High School wrestling program has taken its first steps toward becoming a powerhouse on the high school wrestling scene. Under the expert guidance of first year coach, George Nichols, and assistant coach, Tony Porter, this year's team surprised many opponents on their way to one of the most successful seasons in the history of Lexington wrestling.

Not much was expected of the Minutemen when Coach Nichols took the helm this year. Fresh off rebuilding the program at Newton South High School, Nichols applied his trademark of determination and enthusiasm to his new team at Lexington, and it paid off. The Minutemen opened the season by visiting Nichols' former squad at Newton South, and dealt them a loss. Another highlight was the team's victory over highly regarded Malden. These victories were just two of the nine victories Lexington had against more experienced opponents. All season long Lexington made up for their overall lack of experience with aggressiveness, hard work and desire to win.

With many newcomers joining co-captains, Bobby Sacco and Luyi Shao in the lineup, the team's seniors took on an even more critical role. Along with the co-captains, other varsity veterans, such as Tay Liang, Steve Wolfe, Bob Hutchinson, Paul Stepanian and John Niland, returned for a very strong showing.

The past season was a showcase for many outstanding wrestlers-to-be. Sophomores Dan Kulin and Sey Tan provided an effective one, two punch. In the middle weights, two wrestlers who show great promise for next year are Jon Yoken and Bob Joseph.

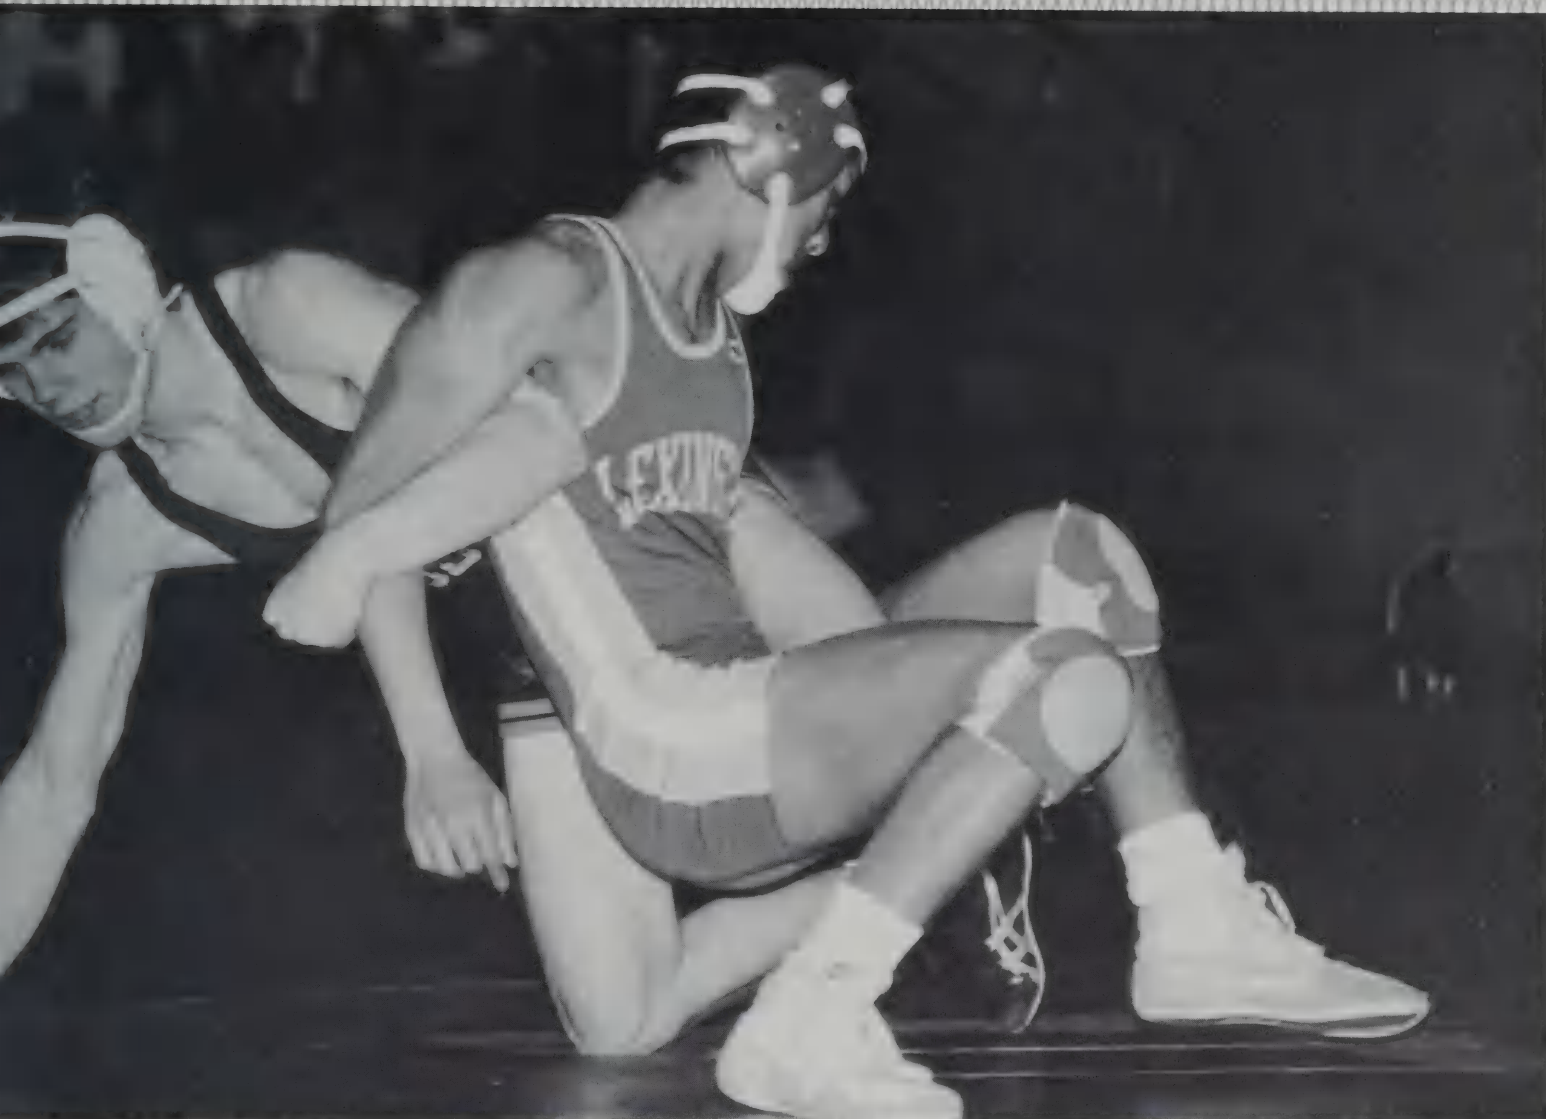

"In a couple of years, this team will be great. It's a real credit to Coach Nichols and our team to have turned this thing around so quickly."

Faceoff!!

A Few Bright Spots

The LHS hockey team got off to a slow start, but managed to accomplish some great successes. After bouncing back from a tough loss to Belmont, the Minutemen came back and tied the top ranked Woburn Tanners 2-2. This game knocked the Tanners out of first place and shot down their hopes for a league title. Other key games of their season were the come back victory over Melrose, the tie against Melrose, and two wins over Winchester, including a 3-0 shutout. The season ended with a goal in the last 40 seconds of the game to tie Burlington 2-2.

This young team was carried by the few, but hard working seniors; the intensity of the hard hitting Alex Hagenah, scoring a goal and an assist in the Woburn game; the defensive forward Tommy Ryder, preventing the league scorers from getting any points in the Watertown or Burlington games, and also enforcing the team's penalty killing line; the tri-captains, Dave LaValle, Tom Graham and Dave Coughlin, also made their presence felt by receiving All-Star honors. Forward Graham and defenseman LaValle shared the team's high scoring honors, while goaltender Coughlin kept most of the pucks out of the net.

Next year's team, despite losing five seniors, will be completely intact. Many injury stricken players will also be returning to help the up and coming Minutemen compete in the always tough Middlesex League.

Good Luck Next Season Minutemen!!

A Season of Firsts

This year's Lexington High School basketball team entered the season with six returning lettermen and with great expectations. The team did not consist of great height, but rather possessed lightning fast speed, smart ball control and a strong rebounding ability at both ends of the court.

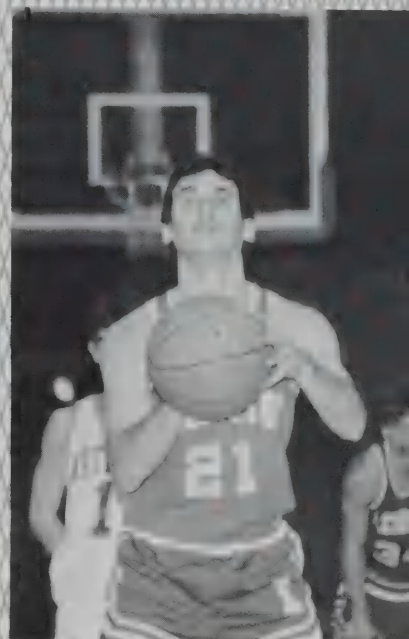

The backcourt duo of Lloyd Mumford and Shawn Matthews provided the unbeatable quickness and outside shooting, while Pat Marshall, Trevor Williams and Tommy Brinklow were able to control the key.

This team performed many feats that Lexington Basketball fans have never seen before. They were the first Lexington team to win the Brockton Tournament, which the fans saw Lexington beat, then number one Duffee High and Brockton High, which shot Lexington to the top spot in the state, where they would stay for the rest of the regular season. This year's team was the earliest Lexington basketball team to qualify for the state tournament and was the first team to qualify in the state. The team won their fifth consecutive Middlesex League title, a feat never done in the Middlesex League.

The bench was another asset that this team had, especially when Mumford went down with an ankle injury three quarters into the season. The forward combination of Marshall and Williams were backed up by Tony Davis and the three point shooting ability of Jim Morrison. Also coming off the bench to make contributions were Mike Walker, Dave McGinness, Ed Sullivan, and Ben Root.

Tom Brinklow fights for the offensive rebound.

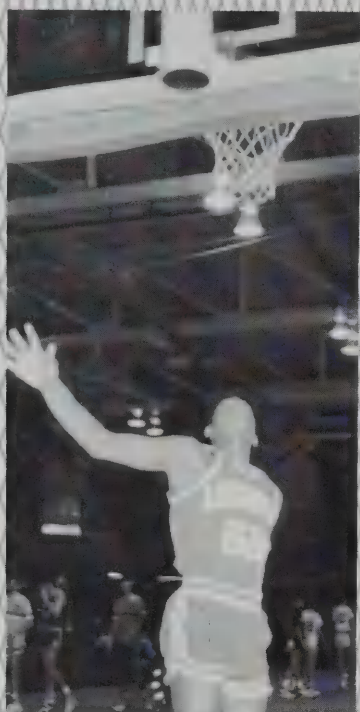

Ready ... aim

Remember When . . .

Watertown finds out about basketball Lexington-style.

Up, up and . . . in.

Coach Faries convenes a quick meeting.

All for one.

We've got the spirit!

If it's not in orbit, I don't know why it's not in orbit.

It's mine, mine . . . all mine.

Spring Sports

In spring young people's thought turn to baseball, softball, tennis, track and lacrosse. The playing fields and tennis courts are once again alive with shouts of homerun and match point. Love is in the air, but it's at the tennis court, not romance.

Several LHS teams started this spring as strong contenders for Middlesex League titles. On other teams, dreams of leading the league had to be deferred. All teams did their best in terms of spirit, enthusiasm and effort, reflecting credit on LHS.

#13 Mark Murphy, prepared for battle.

(Above Right) Nice shot!!

We win, 40-love.

Heads up, Christinal

Bart O'Connor (#1) is in hot pursuit.

Mark Maguire lets another one fly from the mound.

Lexington Girls' Lacrosse is on the attack.

Jeff Hagopian and Matt Packard talk mask-to-mask

"You're all mine, Pilgrim."

Ready! . . . Set! . . . Wait! . . .

Jack Ko gets ready to hit another smashing backhand.

Matt Packard (#10) gets a high five for a job well done.

Lisa Farias fires another strike.

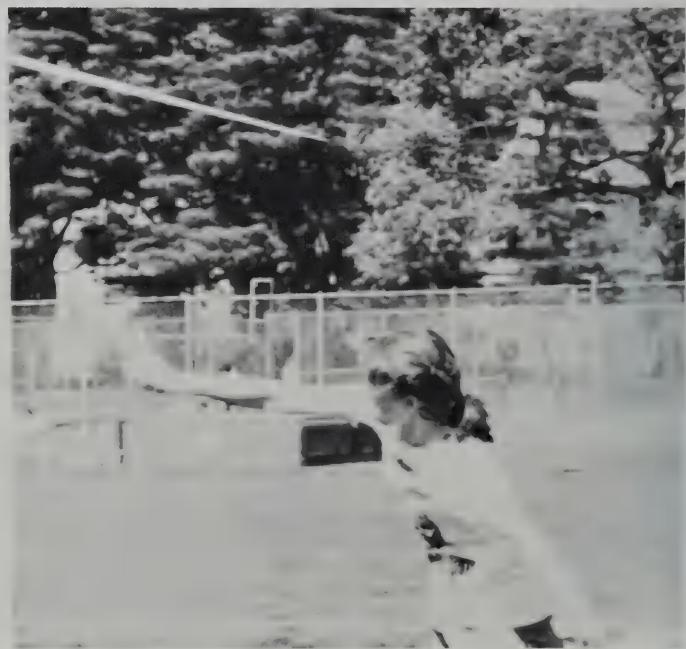

John Mazerall gears up for another pitch.

"Move out of my way so I can see!"

Elise Richer thinks the javelin throw will break the LHS record

"Pretty please with sugar on top."

"That's my best forehand."

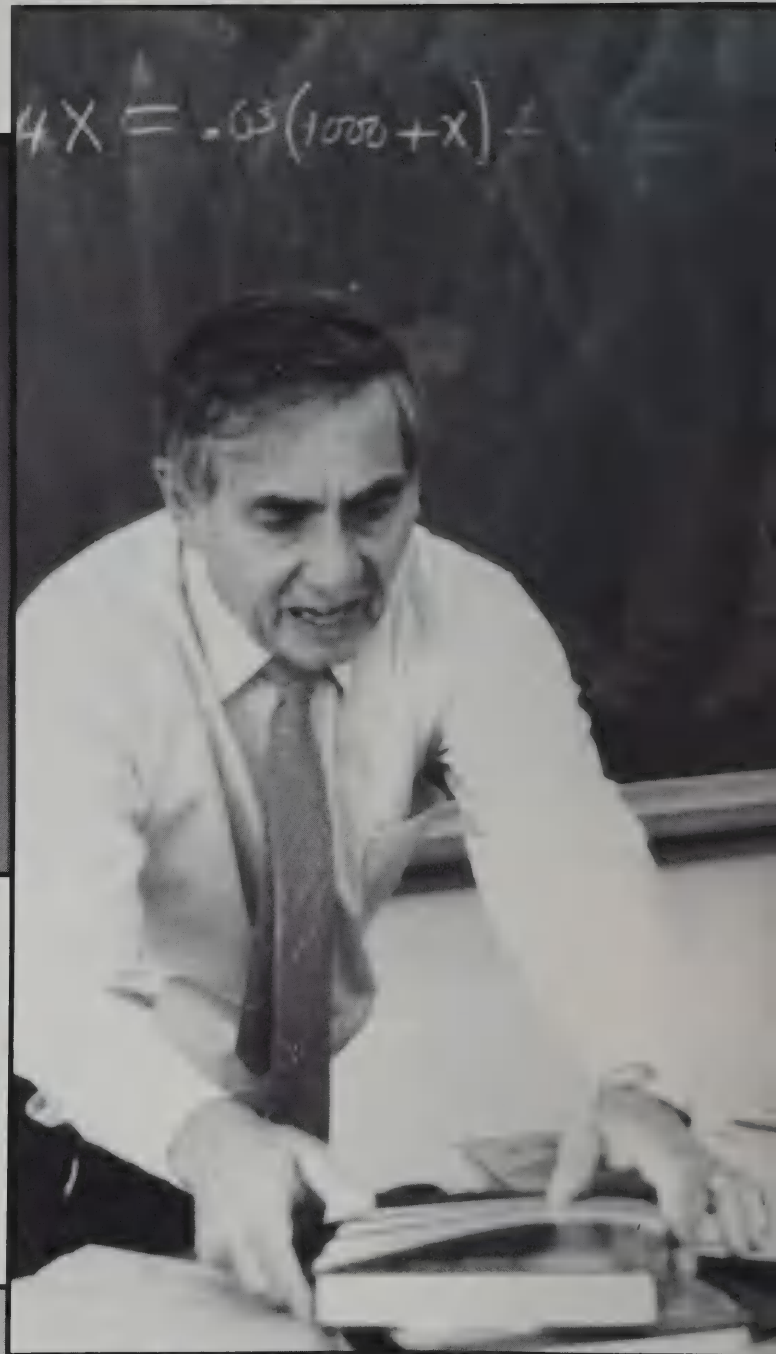

"This one's going over the fence for sure!" (Left)

"Ace all the way!!"

Freshmen in sports

With the coming of school, late in the summer is also the coming of fall sports. For all players the agony of Hell Week is prominent. Yet for most seniors and some juniors the worrying is over. These upperclassmen and women have already made it onto the varsity team of their sports, and preseason for them is just to get back in shape. The majority of the underclass athletes though, have a much more difficult task to accomplish during those long five days. Not only do they have to endure the pain, but they have to impress their coaches as well by "trying their hardest" and showing those in charge "what they're made of".

When that week is over, there is victory and defeat. For the victors there is either a spot on varsity, a well congratulated accomplishment; a position on junior varsity; or a place on the freshman team, only appointed to a freshman of course. But unfortunately for the others, it's "back to the drawing board" in hope of gaining a standing next year.

The Big Question

Almost everyday one hears a sophomore ask class president Jeff Kvaal what he is going to do about Open Campus for the underclass. It's hard to know why underclassmen worry about it. Everyday they go to the center for lunch or get out of study hall with a "library pass." Hopefully the new student government will have a bill passed so the underclassmen will receive the same privilege as the juniors and the seniors do with Open Campus.

Seeing how strongly everyone feels about the Open Campus Bill, something will surely be worked out. In the meantime, business as usual!!

GOING PLACES

After graduating from Lexington High School, many Seniors leave the sheltered world of Lexington to begin new lives at college, work, or the armed forces. In leaving L.H.S. behind, these students face new challenges and bright futures in whatever profession they might choose. Students disperse themselves all over the United States and the world in search of a comfortable niche in which they can grow and prosper.

AHH . . . THE LIFE of a SENIOR

Marc Brugal enjoys a senior's favorite past-time: SLEEP!

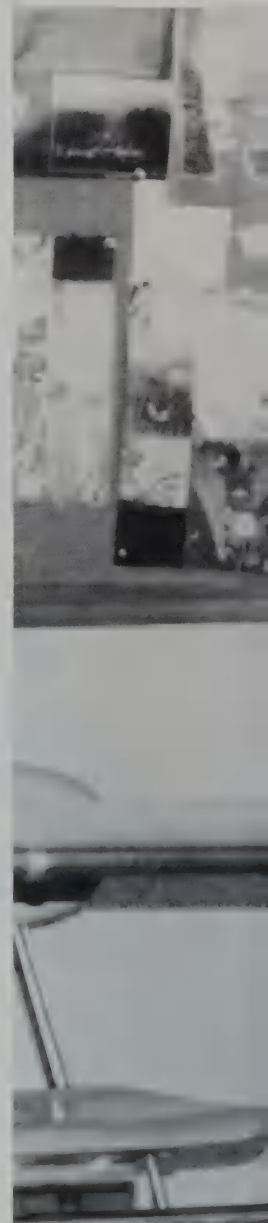

"Only two days until Senior Slump begins," jokes Arthur Aizley.

(Right) As she attempts to hide from the camera, Liz Collins says, "C'mon you guys, enough is enough!"

Christina Myers listens intently to Jason Davis' every word.

TO GO TO SCHOOL OR THE BEACH: That is the Question

As the alarm rings, I slowly turn to see the digital readout tell me it is time to get up. Ten o'clock AM, so soon, I think. UH OH, I better get ready fast; I hope I'm not late. I really want to get a good tanning spot. The sun is shining brightly and it's eighty degrees outside, not even a test in school could ruin my day. All of my college applications are in and standardized testing is over. I'm a second semester senior and frankly, I don't care anymore.

When I arrive at school I immediately find my spot among the sun worshipers and toss around the idea of going to class. Wait — what's that strange noise I hear? Someone asks me, "Was that the first or second bell?" I laugh. I haven't looked at a schedule or a clock in a while. I'm deeply into senior slump and I never knew that High School could be so much fun!

(Right) I dub thee Sir Mark.

Josh Howell says to his card playing buddies, "Go Fish!"

Heather Jones asks innocently, "Can I go home now?"

Amy Wells exclaims, "Yes, I love my fourteen free blocks!"

Although Laura Cohen appears to be studying, she is actually dreaming of the Bahamas.

SNOWY DAZE

This Senior prepares herself for a snowy walk to her next class.

(Above) Even though it's 30° and snowing these seniors socialize outdoors.

(Left) Seth Harris asks Pieter Cohen, "Hey, after this can we make a snowman?"

A FINAL LOOK

Mike Gruber and Shawn Adams crane their necks to say hi.

Jimmy Silva and Paul Stepanian give Matt Reilly a hand.

In Memory of Joseph DiDomenico

In July of 1987 the LHS Music Department suffered a tragic loss. Mr. Joseph DiDomenico, affectionately known as Mr. D, passed away after a two and a half year battle with cancer. He was a member of the LHS faculty for twenty years and for the last three he served as the Lexington Music Department Coordinator. His true and caring nature and his enjoyment of his students were an inspiration to us all. His leadership, talents, dedication, and humor will be remembered and missed by us all.

Don't be dismayed at Goodbyes.
A farewell is necessary before
You can meet again.

And meeting again, after moments of lifetimes, is certain for Those who are friends.

It seems like only yesterday when the staff of this year's yearbook began work on "the year in review." Beginning in August, we sat around my living room discussing how we would shape this yearbook. From that time to the present, almost a year later, we have created the most incredible yearbook in L.H.S. history. As one can see, this yearbook is like nothing before it. We used every possible means to "spice" up this year's yearbook from its title, to the masterpieces of art and graphic designs within it.

Though we had our rough times, often burning the "midnight oil," we made it! I for one, am extremely proud of each and every one of my editors, and the work they did for this year's production. Many new to the field, picked up quickly the essentials of "yearbooking."

Finally, I hope this yearbook sets a precedence for following productions here at L.H.S. Each year, mistakes as well as bounties will be hopefully used as learning aids to make the following yearbook better than its predecessor.

Thanks for the memories,
